

Waiting

Music: Anindo Bose

Vocal Arrangement: Annette Philip

Lyrics: Annette Philip, Anindo Bose

Lately I've been thinking where I'm headed... Its like everything's on hold
Trying to take one step at a time... Just feel like I'm getting old

There was so much I'd imagined doing... So much I wanted to see
But now I've reached here... All I want is to be free...
I'm still waiting... waiting... waiting

I was always an optimist... Even though things didn't go my way
But after years of positivity... It's starting to fade away

I've been swimming against the current for as long I remember...
Always a race with time
Thought I'd "make it" today and "live" tomorrow... I've made it you know?
Then why am I... Still waiting... waiting... waiting

When you're feeling down, sometimes you think you'll drown
When you look around, you may find, what you found
Was there all along... The time was just wrong

So baby don't just hear... Listen
Watching ain't enough... you gotta see
When you sense... do you feel
Life ain't about living it... you gotta come alive, come alive, come alive
Your time will come... your time will come

Hold on... to your faith
Hold on... to you childhood
Hold on... to those memories of you and me
Hold on... to the single raindrop in your hand
Hold on... till those tears turn to joy
Hold on... till your dreams turn to reality
Hold on... till the leaves turn brown
Hold on... to those who love you
Hold on... to that touch
Hold on... to God's hand
Hold on... to your innocence
Hold on... to the hunger, the hunger and the pain
Hold on... to the laughter in the rain
Hold on... to the silence at night
Hold on... to those old familiar places
Hold on... to what makes you You
